New Mexico's NEW Three-Number Game! Play 7 days a week! Lots of ways to play!

Same great 3-number game, with new ways to play! So, what's new?

Combo Play Type

The Combo play type is a convenient way to play all possible exact-order combinations (either three or six combinations) of the numbers you have chosen. The Combo play costs more than a Straight play, but offers better odds of winning up to a $500 prize. You cannot use a Quick Pick for a Combo play because numbers are randomly generated and you might not get the desired number of combinations (and ticket price) you want to play.

3-Way Combo
(2 like #s, any order)
Cost = $3
Prize = $500

6-Way Combo
(3 diff. #s, any order)
Cost = $6
Prize = $500

Add-On Play Types

Front Pair and Back Pair are now purchased separately. Each can be purchased for $1 per play. The prize for winning has increased to $50.

Important information

- Players must use the new Pick 3 Plus play slip to play the Pick 3 Plus game. You can tell the difference by looking for the game logo at the top.
- An asterisk () will print on your ticket in place of a number if you selected either the Front Pair or Back Pair play types, and did not select another play type such as Straight or Box. Since three numbers are drawn and you only play two numbers for the Front Pair or Back Pair, it won't matter what the third number is. Therefore, the third number is represented with an asterisk. For example, if you selected Front Pair your ticket could have the numbers 12. If you selected Back Pair, *12.

All prizes are subject to pari-mutuel payouts. Pari-mutuel payouts mean you may win less than the prize shown on prize tables on the website, the How to Play Brochure or play slip. The NMLA cannot exceed paying out more than the set pari-mutuel threshold dollar amount for any Pick 3 Plus play type in a single draw. If the prizes won in a drawing for a play type exceed the pari-mutuel threshold set by the NMLA, then that maximum amount will be divided and paid equally among the number of winning plays. For example, if the pari-mutuel threshold for the Straight prize is set at $50,000, then 100 Straight winners would each win $500. However, if there are 125 Straight winners, they would each win $400. The pari-mutuel threshold amount is posted on the Pick 3 Plus web page.

New Mexico's NEW Four-Number Game!
Play 7 days a week! Lots of ways to play!

Same great 4-number game, with new ways to play! So, what's new?

Combo Play Type

The Combo play type is a convenient way to play all possible exact-order combinations (four, six, twelve, or twenty-four combinations) of the numbers you have chosen. The Combo play costs more than a Straight play, but offers better odds of winning up to a $5,000 prize. You cannot use a Quick Pick for a Combo play because numbers are randomly generated and you might not get the desired number of combinations (and ticket price) you want to play.

4-Way Combo
(3 like #s, any order)

Cost = $4
Prize = $5,000

6-Way Combo
(2 + 2 like #s, any order)

Cost = $6
Prize = $5,000

12-Way Combo
(2 like #s, any order)

Cost = $12
Prize = $5,000

24-Way Combo
(all diff. #s, any order)

Cost = $24
Prize = $5,000

Add-On Play Types

Front Pair and Back Pair are now purchased separately and a new Middle Pair option has been added. Each can be purchased for $1 per play. The prize for winning has increased to $50.

Important information

- Players must use the new Pick 4 Plus play slip to play the Pick 4 Plus game. You can tell the difference by looking for the game logo at the top.
- An asterisk () will print on your ticket in place of numbers if you buy Front Pair, Middle Pair, or Back Pair, and did not select another play type such as Straight or Box. Since four numbers are drawn, if you do not play all four numbers, then it won't matter what the unchosen numbers are. Therefore, any numbers that are not part of a chosen pair are represented with an asterisk. For example, if you purchased a Front Pair your ticket could look like 12; a Middle Pair ticket could look like 12; and a Back Pair ticket could look like 12.

All prizes are subject to pari-mutuel payouts. Pari-mutuel payouts mean you may win less than the prize shown on prize tables on the website, the How to Play Brochure or play slip. The NMLA cannot exceed paying out more than the set pari-mutuel threshold dollar amount for any Pick 4 Plus play type in a single draw. If the prizes won in a drawing for a play type exceed the pari-mutuel threshold set by the NMLA, then that maximum amount will be divided and paid equally among the number of winning plays. For example, if the pari-mutuel threshold for the Straight prize is set at $50,000, then 10 Straight winners would each win $5,000. However, if there are 16 Straight winners, they would each win $3,125. The pari-mutuel threshold amount is posted on the Pick 4 Plus web page.
